Honey please... I miss you and I love you, I just don't understand what I am supposed to do in order to get you to trust me. I feel like I've tried everything, and it hurts me so bad that you still think I'm deceitful. I guess I'm just supposed to never do anything with anybody? Am I supposed to just stay at home by myself and do nothing?

My dad is in the hospital and between that and the fact that you think I'm some kind of scumbag I feel like just breaking down into tears right now...
